What Is Dubai Gold?

Gold Types · https://www.purejewels.com/faqs/gold-types/what-is-dubai-gold/

Dubai gold refers to gold jewellery crafted and sold in Dubai, a global destination known for its vibrant gold markets, exceptional artisanship, and cultural richness. Whether admired in the historic Deira Gold Souk or modern boutiques, Dubai gold is widely regarded for its purity, beauty, and diverse design traditions.

Why Is Dubai Gold So Coveted?

Dubai has a long and celebrated history in goldsmithing, with skilled artisans producing jewellery in a range of styles—from traditional Arabic patterns to modern, minimalist pieces. What sets Dubai gold apart is:

- Craftsmanship: Intricate detail and superior finishing are hallmarks of Dubai-made jewellery.
- Cultural Influence: Designs reflect a fusion of Middle Eastern, Indian, Turkish, and contemporary European styles.
- Purity and Variety: Jewellery in Dubai is typically crafted in 21ct gold, with pieces also available in 18ct, 22ct, and 24ct.

The Allure of 21ct Gold

While 22ct and 24ct gold are often associated with investment or ceremonial use, 21ct gold is particularly popular in Dubai for its perfect balance of rich colour and durability, making it ideal for intricate jewellery that is both luxurious and practical for wear.

How Does Dubai Gold Compare to UK Jewellery?

Although gold itself is universal, what distinguishes Dubai gold is:

- Lower Making Charges: Jewellery is often priced more competitively.
- Tax-Free Advantage: Dubai’s status as a gold-trading hub keeps prices attractive.
- Design Range: A wider variety of ethnic and global influences in one market.

By contrast, in the UK, gold jewellery—such as that crafted by PureJewels—is hallmarked by the London Assay Office and adheres to strict quality and ethical standards.
